Poem on Mother Earth

I Could See Mother Earth Fight with the Dark Lord for My Unfortunate and Unprepared Soul

(Artist: William Blake Date: 1757-1827)

I could see the dark lord guide my fearful soul into the intense dark night.

I could see my soul gladly accompanying the dark lord to quench his unknown mysterious thirst.

I could see the dark lord hastily snatch myself from the tight embrace of mother earth and quickly leave for the unknown abode.

I could see the dark lord hastily snatch myself from the tight embrace of goddess of pleasure and pain and quickly leave for the heavenly abode.

I could see mother earth requesting in vain the dark lord to sit and wait for a while and not leave in haste.

I could see mother earth weeping intensely at the fate of my unfortunate soul being snatched in haste by the dark lord.

I could see mother earth weep at my unfortunate soul which had barely any time to come out of the golden prison walls of memories of pleasure and pain.

I could see mother earth weep at my unfortunate soul which was yet unfulfilled and enveloped my memories and dreams of past lives.

I could see mother earth weep at my unfortunate soul which was totally obscured in bitter past memories and had obliterated its true identity.

I could see mother earth weep on seeing my unfortunate soul being dressed in tattered mortal robe hiding its intense divine beauty.

I could see mother earth requesting in vain the dark lord to sit and wait for a while as my unfortunate soul was utterly unprepared.

I could see the divine light which had not yet percolated into my soul being blotted out by the dark lord.

I could see the dark lord guide the spirit of my cheerless soul into the darkness of the unknown abode.

I could see the mother earth requesting the dark lord who had come as unknown stranger to this mortal land to show some restraint and grant some time for my soul to prepare itself for its final destiny.

I could see mother earth requesting the dark lord not to disturb the silence of sleep of my soul and wait for divine light to wake up my soul in the dawn of existence.

I could see mother earth crying out loud on seeing the dark lord riding on a white horse carrying away my unfortunate soul into the gloom and darkness of the unknown.

I could see mother earth bitter and sad at her inability to protect my unfortunate soul from the cruel clutches of destiny.

I could see mother earth curse the dark lord for failing to acknowledge her fierce love and longing for my unfortunate soul.

 The Triple Goddess: Traditionally in Wicca, the Goddess is seen as the Triple Goddess, meaning that she is the maiden, the mother and the crone throughout the year, giving different magical aspects to each. The goddess is represented by the moon and night time. She's the giver of love, light, and fertility. The goddess is associated with the element of earth... "Mother Earth." O Mother Earth! I Have Witnessed In Your Kingdom the Forced Creations of an Ignorant Mind

(Artist: Jyoti Sahi Source: <http://beautifulvisuals.blogspot.in>)

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed thoughts fall through levels hard and tense.

I have witnessed my thoughts passion for some crude reality.

I have witnessed the twilight that has changed its hues.

I have witnessed the lurid mist of the day.

I have witnessed a straining taut and dire besiege my heart.

I have witnessed my sense grow heavy with a dangerous load.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed your sadder and greater sounds rush into my ears.

I have witnessed your cloudy mountains and wide tawny streams.

I have witnessed your cities climb in minarets and towers.

I have witnessed your unavailing changeless sky.

I have witnessed your harbours white with sails.

I have witnessed the travails of your toiling multitudes.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed the travails of your ever shifting perishable groups.

I have witnessed the foiled cinema of your shadowy shapes.

I have witnessed your shadowy shapes enveloped in the green mantle of a dream.

I have witnessed your shadowy shapes imaging meanings in life's heavy drift.

I have witnessed your shadowy shapes put their trust in the uncertain environment.

I have witnessed your shadowy shapes wait for death to change their spirits scene.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the savage din of labour and tramp of armoured life.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the monotonous hum.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the thoughts and acts that are ever the same.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the drone of a great brute machine besiege mortal souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the moaning of a loud unique sea.

I have witnessed in your kingdom a huge in human cyclopean voice.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the Babel-builder's song towering to heaven.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the throb of the engines and the clanging of the tools.

I have witnessed in you kingdom the deep undertone of labour's pain.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the pale lightings tearing a tortured spy.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the phantoms of human thought and baffled hopes.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the shapes of nature and the arts of man.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the dead philosophies and disciplines and laws.

I have witnessed in your kingdom that dead spirits of old societies.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the constructions of the titan and the worm.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the lost remnants of forgotten light.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the flying away of dimmed revelations and delivering words.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the loss of message of the evangelist gods.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the disappearance of the voices of the prophets.

I have witnessed in your kingdom of disappearance of the scripts of vanishing creeds.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the empty ideals and systems.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the empty sciences, poems and crafts.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals restlessly seeking the creative power.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the dream of the mortals crossing empty vast.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the ascetic voices of the lonely seers.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mystic voices from the desolate heat of the forest glades.
I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.
I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the world-less peace.
I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals desperately seeking transcend cessations of their sleepless thoughts.
I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.
O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the forced creations of an ignorant mind.

O Mother Earth! I Have Witnessed in Your Kingdom the Mortals Seeking Desperately the Heaven's Rest

(Artist: Evelyn De Morgan Date: 1855-1919)

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of man to fly with the wings of his soul.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortal's sink back to their native soil after their vain attempt to fly.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals being held captive in their own net of mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortal's beat their soul wings against the walls of life.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of the mortals to lift up their heart.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain efforts of the mortals to fill up the brilliant void with brilliant gods.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals ultimately turning to the void after disappointment.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking their release in the happy nothingness of the void.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the calm revelation of his dream of self.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the end of words in silence.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the end of the names in naught.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals calling the godhead to be lover of their lonely souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals cast their spirit into the embrace of the void.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals attempting to find their copy in the impartial all.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals attempting to impart their own will to the immobile.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the attributes of the eternal wrath and love.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the lending of thousand names to the ineffable.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals attempting to bring the everlasting here.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking in vain their aim in matter's world.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals with no aim but only a will to be.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all walk by nature bound for ever.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the forms that stay a while and pass.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the lives that long and strive and then are no more.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the structures that have no abiding truth.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the saviour creeds that cannot save themselves.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all creeds perish in the struggling hands of the years.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all creeds ultimately discarded from man's thoughts.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all creeds proved false by time.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all philosophies solve nothing since earth began.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all sciences claim their omnipotence in vain.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals transform all forms to serve their outward needs.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals ride through the sky and sail beneath the sea in vain.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals failing to learn what they are and why they came.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals encircle their spirit with walls bricked with evil and good.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals build their fissured houses that serve both as palace and jail.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the politics and architectures of man's brain rot while they rein.

I have witnessed in your kingdom politics and architecture of man's brain crumble before they crash.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals seeking desperately the heaven's rest.

Mother Earth or Maze Symbol: This is a common symbol among many Native American tribes, including the Hopi. One of its representations is that of mother and child (see Mother Symbolism. page) In a broader sense, the connection of earth mother to us as her children. The beginning, straight center-line represents the child – or our philosophical beginnings – the surrounding maze represents the enfolding energies of mother earth. Note the maze does not enclose the center –line representing the child. The symbolism then is strong when we realize the support of the mother is constantly around yet our ability to venture out on our own is always available. (Source: <http://www.whats-your-sign.com>).

O Mother Earth! I Have Witnessed In Your Kingdom the Slumber of the Sleeping Souls

(Artist: Sir Edward Coley Burne-Jones Source: <http://www.wikiaallery.org>)

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the things the past had made and stain.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the lost forgotten forms that once had lived.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the new forms revealed in the present.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the hopes the future brings.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the repeat of the forms fruitlessly age after age.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom all the forms caught and spent in effortless vain.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the joy contained the anguish of pursuit.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the joy to labour and to win and lose.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the joy to create and leap.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the joy to kill.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the rolling cycles pass and come again.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the forms ever new and ever old.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the long appalling revolutions of the world.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the endless forms subjected to the same toils again and again.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the endless forms subjected to the same barren end again and again.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the arousal of the great destroying voice.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the fruitless labour of the worlds.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the passionate dwell of the all defeating might.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals pursue the ignorant march of dolorous time.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals behold the figures of this symbol realm.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals behold the solid outlines of his creative dream.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals trying in vain to trace the outcome nature gives.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the sin of being and the error in things.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the motions parable of human life.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the great concrete tasks of mother nature.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the desire that compels to live.

I have witnessed in your kingdom man's incurable malady of hope in an immutable order's hierarchy.

I have witnessed in your kingdom how the mortals obey nature's fixed mutations law.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the new versions of natures often told tale.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

I have witnessed in your kingdom how in even wheeling cycles turns the human race.

I have witnessed in your kingdom how the human mind is spent in circling boundaries.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of man to soar beyond his thoughts.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of man to soar beyond his mind.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of man to leave his limits.

I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain effort of man to mount to his greater heavens.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the slumber of the sleeping souls.

Eastern Star: The emblem of the female Masonic organization, the Order of the Eastern Star. The symbol is a complex one, and is said to represent the Star of Bethlehem, symbolizing the descent of spirit into matter- the divine in man, or even the presence of God on earth. Its appellation also implies a relationship with the planet Venus, also called the "eastern star." Each point on the star has an emblem of a different biblical heroine (Adam, Ruth, Esther, Martha, and Electa) and the qualities they represent- fidelity, constancy, loyalty, faith, and love. The initials "F.A.T.A.L." found on some are said to stand for the phrase, "Fairest Among Thousands, Altogether Lovely," a reference from the Song of Songs, although also an apt description, perhaps, of some of the biblical heroines above. OES founder Rob Morris alluded several times to a cabbalistic meaning of the motto, but never fully elaborated it- at least not in any surviving works. (Source: <http://symboldictionary.net>).

O Mother Earth! I Have Witnessed In Your Kingdom the Work of Centuries Vanishing In an Hour

(Artist: William-Adolphe Bouguereau Date: 1825-1905)

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the work of centuries vanishing in an hour. I have witnessed in your kingdom the drunken demon and the drunken gods. I have witnessed in your kingdom these useless revolutions. I have witnessed in your kingdom the convulsing and wounded body of mankind. I have witnessed in your kingdom the vain attempts of the mortals to paint an old face with new colours. I have witnessed in your kingdom the endless wars and carnage. I have witnessed in your kingdom the maddening ruin. O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the work of centuries vanishing in an hour.

O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the work of centuries vanishing in an hour. I have witnessed in your kingdom the blood of the vanquished being shed in vain. I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals wearing the Victor's crown in vain. I have witnessed in your kingdom the mortals pay with pain as the price of their birth. I have witnessed in your kingdom the glory, the beasthood and the shame. I have witnessed in your kingdom the demon's grandeur mixed with the demigods. I have witnessed in your kingdom all the labour and the din vanish without trace. O mother earth! I have witnessed in your kingdom the work of centuries vanishing in an hour.
